Sherbrecke Exposition Larger Than Ever This Year.

The applications for space in the industrial departments of Canada's great eastern exhibition, Aug. 27-Sept. show a big increase over previous years. Not one inch of space remains to be rented, in spite of the additional accommodation which has been made available by the removal of the Sher-brooke hospital counter from the main

The fact that numerous applications have been received from Ontario and the maritime provinces, is a tribute to the high standard of the exhibition and an acknowledgement of the value of fairs in general as an advertising me-

Cost Figures on Maple Products Soon to Be Made Public.

The work of finding out what it cost on the average to produce maple syrup and sugar in Vermont during the spring of 1921 is rapidly nearing completion. cooperation with the Agricultral extension service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural college, niture, etc. 70 Vermont farmers kept records of the cost of producing maple syrup and sugar on their farms this spring. These Verne Hudson, Auctioneer. records were collected by county agricultural agents and forwarded to the extension service where they are now being checked over and compiled by M. Administrator's Sale of Real P. Rasmussen, extension specialist in Estate and Personal Property this work will be completed by the first of September. Returns from about hali of the records indicate an average roduction cos of around $1.51 per gal ion of maple syrup and $.19 per pound of maple sugar. The final figures will be given publicity just as soon as the At the George Lynde Farm in several horse blankets, express wagon, tabulations are completed and checked.
